Male ostracods light up Caribbean waters.

NEWS

IN BRIEF

906 News at a glance

IN DEPTH

908 Ancient DNA from the Near East probes a cradle of civilization

Studies seek clues to origins of farming, early languages By A. Curry

909 Global drought experiment reveals the toll on plant growth

Artificial droughts sharply cut carbon storage By E. Pennisi

910 Researchers watch how Arctic storms chew up sea ice

Airborne campaign to study summer cyclones could reveal air-ice interactions By E. Hand

PODCAST

912 Deadly bird flu establishes a foothold in North America

H5N1 has continued to kill wild birds and poultry this summer. The fall migration could bring it back in force By E. Stokstad

913 Many-eyed scope will make movies of the stars

Argus Array will combine hundreds of off-the-shelf telescopes to capture fleeting events By D. Clery

FEATURES

914 Sparkling waters

Tiny Caribbean crustaceans and their bioluminescent mating displays are shining new light on evolution By E. Pennisi

INSIGHTS

PERSPECTIVES

918 Machine learning ecological networks

Deep-learning tools can help to construct historical, modern-day, and future food webs By E. J. O’Gorman
REPORT p. 1008

919 Interpreting thoughts during sleep

Rapid eye movements during sleep are a readout of thoughts during mouse dreams By C. I. De Zeeuw and C. B. Canto
REPORT p. 999

921 Two nanoparticles dancing as a pair

Lasers induce and control interactions between two nanoparticles By J. S. Pedernales
REPORT p. 987

922 Ancient genomes and West Eurasian history

Storytelling with ancient DNA reveals challenges and potential for writing new histories By B. S. Arbuckle and Z. Schwandt
RESEARCH ARTICLES pp. 939 & 940;
REPORT p. 982

924 Absorbing light using time-reversed lasers

Laser cavities can be reverse engineered to create an efficient light trap By J. Bertolotti
REPORT p. 995

925 Wildlife trade is likely the source of SARS-CoV-2

Multiple transmissions from wildlife at a market in Wuhan probably led to SARS-CoV-2 emergence By X. Jiang and R. Wang
RESEARCH ARTICLES pp. 951 & 960

927 James Lovelock (1919–2022)

Father of Earth system science By T. M. Lenton

POLICY FORUM

928 Policy impacts of statistical uncertainty and privacy

Funding formula reform may help address unequal impacts of uncertainty from data error and privacy protections By R. Steed et al.

BOOKS ET AL.

932 The new storytellers

Computer-crafted tales offer insight into human creativity By S. Dick

933 When utility providers fall short

Pacific Gas and Electric’s abysmal track record highlights the company’s failings and our own By G. Bakke

ON THE COVER

This image inspired by Bronze Age art depicts people of diverse cultures spreading their genes between West Asia and Southeast Europe. From left to right: Mycenaean, Minoan, Hittite, Armenian, and Urartian. A total of 1317 ancient genomes spanning 10,000 years were analyzed to reveal the manifold connections between these regions that are invisible in modern DNA. See pages 908, 922, 939, 940, and 982.
